

The Space Opera of the Ether Ship

Ether Ship The story of the mind tribes

by
Willard Van De Bogart

A dormant star ship from the etheric civilization lay buried deep within the depths of a massive black hole at the center of a galaxy and suddenly became bombarded by a strong wave of gamma ray activity from outside the black hole. By accident the etheric civilization's star ship had been attracted by a strong unidentified force field emanating from the center of this black hole a long time ago was unable to alter its course. All the etheric civilization's energy was consumed trying to stay clear of the center of the black hole's force field but to no avail. The strong gamma ray re-activated the core energy field of the etheric civilizations' star ship, and when it was finally able to release itself out of the black hole the star ship emitted a great diapason, a sound making it possible to re-establish communication with other members of the etheric civilization. The diapason was also detected by other civilizations that were looking for intelligent life in the universe. The diapason came from the Ether Ship's tonal navigation system which enabled it to travel in the universe. The Ether Ship, as it was called, was finally released from the black hole and could once again travel throughout the universe.

Gamma ray burst re-activates core energy field of the Ether Ship

Once free from the black hole, guidance calculations were made so the etheric civilization occupants could once again guide their ship throughout the universe. After the ship's magnetic fields were re-calibrated and aligned with the ship's tonal navigation system it was then possible for the Ether Ship to move out of the black hole and back into the universe. By matching the location of the stars in the ship's navigation system when they had first entered the black hole with the position of the stars after they were out of the black hole a period of about 26,000 years had elapsed. This was the first time their star ship had been diverted from following the etheric currents which were laced throughout the universe. So the question needing answered was how the center of this particular galaxy caused such an attractive force that could alter its own navigational system forcing their ship away from its intended course.

So what is the etheric civilization? Where does it come from and what does it do as a civilization? It's only appropriate that these questions are answered before the journey of the Ether Ship continues. Firstly, the etheric civilization is an interconnected civilization using the etheric fields within the substratum of the universe; also referred to as the plenum. It has awareness of itself through the arrangement of all the fields within the universe. Its intelligence is based on an ongoing picture that filters through the human mind allowing glimpses of the etheric civilizations own comprehension of existence.

Etheric fields in the universe – Bolshoi-High-Res

The etheric civilization communicates with other forms of life through thought forms. In many ways this race of people acts like a tribe of minds traveling in the universe using a tonal guidance system generated by configuring geometric models using the position of stars. The distance between the stars enables the civilization to transverse large distances instantaneously by following the different geometric lines connected in the tonal navigation system. There are different tones for each geometric shape. The mind tribes can easily follow the etheric web or energy lines which connect all interstellar bodies.

The Ether Ship was under the command of Captain Shiva Van Flight.

